DOLFINES laureate by CORIMER for its OHMe project

The Secretary of State for the Sea to the Prime Minister, Hervé Berville, announced today in Lille that DOLFINES has been awarded by CORIMER (Orientation Council for Research and Innovation by Industrialists of the Sea) for its OHMe telescopic tool. This project is part of the French government's France 2030 program.

This title of laureate will give DOLFINES the financial means of its ambitions in the development of the engineering phase of the OHMe tool.

As a reminder, OHMe is a telescopic tool capable of installing blades and performing heavy maintenance activities on installed or floating offshore wind turbines.

DOLFINES will return in more detail in a few days on all the dimensions of this major recognition of its R&D efforts.
